

ETHICAL CARE CHARTER

Stirling Council has formally adopted UNISON Scotland's Ethical Care Charter 8 November 2017

By adopting this Ethical Care Charter, Stirling Council has achieved trade union recognition for its high standards in home care and conditions for home care workers.

Working under this charter will improve the quality and sustainability of care for all users of the home care service. We recognise that Stirling Council is striving to provide fair working conditions for home care workers and higher quality standards of care for elderly and vulnerable people in Stirling.

By formally adopting UNISON's Ethical Care Charter, Stirling Council is helping to ensure the sustainability of Stirling's home care services.

UNISON is pleased to recognise the commitment made by Stirling Council to improving the lives of those who provide and receive home care in Stirling.

Scott Farmer
Stirling Council Leader

UNISON Scotland

ETHICAL CARE CHARTER

ETHICAL CARE CHARTER

Stirling Council has formally adopted UNISON Scotland's Ethical Care Charter 8 November 2017

By adopting this Ethical Care Charter, Stirling Council has achieved trade union recognition for its high standards in home care and conditions for home care workers.

Working under this charter will improve the quality and sustainability of care for all users of the home care service. We recognise that Stirling Council is striving to provide fair working conditions for home care workers and higher quality standards of care for elderly and vulnerable people in Stirling.

By formally adopting UNISON's Ethical Care Charter, Stirling Council is helping to ensure the sustainability of Stirling's home care services.

UNISON is pleased to recognise the commitment made by Stirling Council to improving the lives of those who provide and receive home care in Stirling.

Scott Farmer
Stirling Council Leader

UNISON Scotland

ETHICAL CARE CHARTER